Sonny Jones Promoted to Assistant Supervisor in District 11

FRANKFORT, Ky. (Aug. 30, 2019) - Kentucky Division of Probation and Parole Director Erica Hargis today announced that Sonny Jones has been promoted to assistant supervisor in District 11.

"Sonny Jones' knowledge and experience in supervision, as well as safety and reentry services make him a great addition to the D-11 management team," said Hargis.

Jones began his career with the Kentucky Department of Corrections in May 2014. He served as a probation and parole officer until December 2018. During his time as an officer, Jones supervised a district-wide caseload of MRS clients located in eight eastern counties. He served as a safety officer and firearms instructor as well. Jones was one of three officers in the state to be OSHA certified.

Jones has taught reentry programming classes in several offices. In December 2018, he transferred to the Reentry Branch as a reentry coordinator for Region 6. He has been very active in the district's reentry efforts and facilitated the eastern Kentucky reentry council meetings.

Jones earned his bachelor's degree in criminology from Morehead State University. He received the 2017 Achievement Award for District 11 at the department's annual awards ceremony.
